9-year Coma Ended by Death

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—(P)—For most nine years he was known only as "Patient X."

For almost nine years he had lain in a coma.

Friday night "Patient X" died and for the first time it was known publicly that he was Robert Steger of Lexington, Ky. He was 61 years old.

Nine years ago next month he was hit by a pulley while working at the Wright Aeronautical Corp. plant near here. He was knocked unconscious and suffered a brain injury.

A blood clot on his brain was removed, but the brain cells were damaged beyond repair.

He lapsed into unconsciousness. He didn't move, didn't recognize anyone.

Doctors, members of his family and attaches in Bethesda hospital declined to give his name but they continued to keep "Patient X" alive.

Three times he had pneumonia, but recovered. He was fed by tube with liquidified foods and vitamins and kept in fairly good health most of the time.

Physicians said he weighed about 190 pounds when he entered the hospital and maintained that weight and even gained on occasion.

In the last few months they reported however that his weight had declined appreciably.

The brain injury was not blamed for the death. "Deterioration caused by inactivity," was the reason given.

President Truman 'Can't Win'

Grass Roots Survey Points to Taft or Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Senator Mundt (R-SD) reports his personal "grass roots survey" indicates the public wants either Senator Taft (R-Ohio) or Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the next President.

"But the American people have not made up their minds between Bob and Ike," Mundt said, adding he is not committed to any presidential aspirant.

"There is no definite trend," Mundt based his belief on what he said were careful soundings he made among rank and file voters while delivering a series of speeches in the Southwest and Midwest in recent weeks.

"I've come back convinced that President Truman is not going to run," Mundt said. "He has lost the South, and he can't win without the South. I don't think he wants to end his career as a badly defeated candidate."

REGARDING two other announced Republican candidates, Governor Earl Warren of California and Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and former governor of Minnesota, Mundt said:

"I don't think either one is a front-running candidate. They now are in the favorite son class."

Taft supporters on Capitol Hill are confident a solid block of Ohio delegates will go to the Republican national convention next Summer committed to Ohio's senior senator for the GOP presidential nomination.

They say efforts by forces behind Stassen to obtain delegate support in Ohio in the May 6 primary are doomed to failure.

As for the Eisenhower supporters among Ohio Republicans, Rep. George H. Bender, congressman-at-large from Chagrin Falls, says they "have no place to go."

He points out that the Ohio primary law prevents Eisenhower followers from going out on their own to seek delegates for the general.

This law requires that a candidate must give his consent in writing before delegate candidates may enter the primary in his behalf.

SINCE Eisenhower has stated he will not make an active campaign for the presidential nomination, he probably would not give his written consent.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blaine, Republican national committee man from Ohio and Taft's campaign manager in 1948, said he thinks Stassen is not as strong as he was during the last presidential election year, while Taft has become much stronger than he was four years ago.

"I think Stassen will get no delegates from Ohio," Brown declared. He said he expects Ohio to send 56 delegates to Chicago.

In 1948, Stassen captured nine delegates from Ohio. He has announced his intention to enter a full slate of delegate candidates pledged to him in the Ohio primary.

Military Pay Bill To Be Aired Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—A political move to delay the military pay increase bill apparently has failed. The measure goes before the House Tuesday as scheduled.

This became evident when Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said he would not withdraw a proposal for a ten per cent cost of living increase in military pay and allowances. It would cost an estimated $832 million annually.

Columbus Man Cited

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—(P)—A federal court jury Friday found David F. Friedberg, owner of the Buckeye Tailoring Co., Columbus, guilty on three of four counts of income tax evasion. He failed to pay taxes on $102,000 income for the years 1945, 1946 and 1947. He faces a possible sentence of 30 years in prison and $30,000 fine.

Drunken Driver Checking Gadget Passes Exams

Pickaway County Takes Another Step in Campaign

CIRCLEVILLE, Jan. 12.—Pickaway County Prosecutor Guy Cline believes he has taken another positive step forward in his campaign to tighten a noose around the necks of drunken drivers who appear on local highways.

He said Saturday that a new instrument—known as an Alcometer—has undergone stiff tests in Columbus city police department and has come out with flying colors.

Cline's Alcometer, the only one of its kind in Ohio and only the ninth to have been produced by its Massachusetts manufacturer, was forced to stand up against time and court-honored blood tests and urine tests.

Since Cline's Alcometer has not yet been fully accepted by court decision, the Pickaway prosecutor turned the gadget over to Columbus police laboratory technicians for comparison tests.

A special report to Cline Saturday showed that in six successive tests, the Alcometer's findings were very close to those made through blood and urine analysis.

The Columbus police department chemist, Lloyd M. Shupe, indicated in his official report to Cline that the deviation between blood, urine and Alcometer readings were negligible.

Since the Alcometer has not been fully accepted by the courts, Cline said his plan was to use the instrument to determine the amount of alcohol in an arrested driver's system, and call in Shupe in contested cases for "expert testimony."

Cline is hoping for quick court approval and indicated Saturday he hoped to be able eventually to secure a court decision from the highest tribunal in the land.

In his preliminary tests, Shupe used the Alcometer readings on six men arrested for drunken driving.

The results follow with Column A being the Alcometer reading, B the blood reading and U the urine reading:

	B	B	U
1.	.18	x	.20
2.	.26	.22	.35
3.	.22	.19	x
4.	.27	.27	.38
5.	.20	.18	.23
6.	.22	.22	.36

The figures represent the percentage of alcohol present. Present-day courts accept a percentage of .15 as sufficient for conviction.

Movie Proposals Turned Down by Rescued Skipper

FALMOUTH, Eng., Jan. 12.—(P)—Kurt Carlsen, the shy little sea captain, has turned down the glamor of Hollywood and its money—offered for rights to his saga of supreme courage and endurance aboard his ship, Flying Enterprise.

Firmly, the 37-year-old skipper said nobody was going to buy him away from the sea.

Carlsen said he just isn't interested in offers totalling between $88,000 to $112,000 which already have been made for the film and story rights to his 13-day duel with the sea aboard his ill-fated freighter, which sank in the Atlantic Thursday. He wants only two things—to get back to his wife and two daughters in Woodbridge, N. J., "and then get another ship."

Dollar Bills Bloom in Flower Beds

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 12.—(P)—Folks along the 700 block of South Congress Street were out early Saturday among their hydrangeas, camellias and azaleas looking for more of that soggy old money they've been finding lying around.

Whether they find more or not won't change the fact that some Jackson folk never had it so good as they did Friday, when $930 was picked up—free as you please—in no time at all.

Mrs. Valentine—she's the wife of the Rev. W. S. Valentine—started the money hunt Friday morning by plucking a soggy $100 bill from an alley next door to her home.

Atomic Artillery Is Readied

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—The artillery gun for shooting atomic shells may be fired with a conventional propelling charge like any big caliber gun. No nuclear explosive is needed to throw the missile at the target.

And a major problem in the design of the weapon, a model of which was shown to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy Friday, probably has been to hold the weight of the gun down to a point where it is practical for battlefield use.

If the words used by Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) of the committee were used advisedly, the new weapon appears to be a gun instead of a rocket launching device. He described it as an "artillery gun" designed to handle atomic shells.

The biggest mobile gun used now by the Army is the 240 millimeter howitzer. This is a bore of slightly under ten inches. A caliber of even double that size would create a hefty weapon for easy mobility on a battlefield, although not an impossible weight.

FATHER REJECTS SONS' MEDALS—Former government official Halsey McGovern of Washington has refused to accept posthumous awards of the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Silver Star won by his two sons, First Lt. Army officials said McGovern's reasons for rejecting the decorations were classed as "confidential," but published reports said he would not accept them because they were offered by President Truman. 5 Children Given Judge In Row over Pin Curls ANTIOCH, Calif., Jan. 12.—(P)—Justice of the Peace Yates Hamm has five children on his hands all because of some girlish pin curls.

The children, aged 3 to 11, were given to the judge by Mr. and Mrs. Amos Barton after he fined them $10 each for allowing their 15-year-old daughter Theola to stay home from school.

Theola had been sent home from school for wearing pin curls, an act backed by the state attorney general. He handed down an opinion saying school authorities had the right to forbid the girl to come to school with her hair in pin curls.

When the Bartons, who sided with their daughter, appeared in court Friday and were assessed the fine, Mrs. Barton rose and declared they would not pay. She read a long statement, quoting the Scripture, berating school and probation departments, the board of education and the attorney general.

HER STATEMENT concluded: "I do not intend to be the puppet of any dictatorship."

She declared: "It seems you've taken the education of our children into your own hands. We're appointing you the legal guardian of our five youngest children to raise, to feed and to educate."

With that the Bartons stalked out.

When Hamm went to his outer office he found the five young Bartons awaiting him.

Doreen, 11, John 8, Tommy, 7, Cheryl, 6, and Timothy, 3, all were in tears. The judge hurriedly gave them 50 cents each to quiet them.

After consulting Probation Officer Everett Joseph, Judge Hamm had the children sent to the juvenile court.

The Bartons took all the legal maneuvering without wavering an inch.

"We'll never pay fine for something we're not guilty of," said Mrs. Barton. "I told the judge I'd go to jail, but I won't pay the fine."

The Bartons have three other children, all in the Navy.

Ohio Democrats Go for Kefauver

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—(P)—If he gives his approval in writing, Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat, will have a slate of candidates pledged to him for the presidential nomination, on May's Democratic primary ballot.

Three prominent Ohio Democrats have announced they are acting as a "coordinated committee" to foster Kefauver's candidacy in Ohio. The three are Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, former Ohio Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus, and Timothy S. Hogan Jr. of Cincinnati.

A widespread investigation has revealed the existence of three gangs, separated by age, with younger members mingling with older boys.

Those between 8 and 11 were called the "midgets," those between 12 and 15 "juniors," and those between 16 and 18 "seniors."

A 16-year-old boy, named as a marijuana supplier to the 8-year-old, told police the source of supply for the gangs was Hector Lopez, 19, who was held in felony court in $5,000 bail.

Dope-Smoking Boy, 8, Bares New Menace

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(P)—The discovery of a marijuana-smoking 8-year-old boy has led to the disclosure of youthful gangs of dope addicts who police say are supplied by a 19-year-old peddler.

The child, sent to Bellevue Hospital for treatment as an habitual smoker of marijuana cigarettes, was the first of at least a dozen youngsters rounded up by police in the Bronx since Tuesday.

February Draft Call Is Reduced by 2,500

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—The Army and the Marines are calling 52,500 draftees in February and 28,600 in March—a 2,500 quota cut for February and a below-average figure for March.

The Defense Department said the February reduction was possible because of increased volunteering and a change in Marine Corps recruiting. The Navy relies solely on recruiting.

Warning by U.S. Puts Pressure For Korea Truce

Airfield Wrangle Continues To Stall Peace Negotiations

MUNSAN, Jan. 12.—(P)—United Nations Command truce negotiators asked the Communists again Saturday for a clear statement of their present stand on construction of North Korean airfields during an armistice—and again they got no satisfactory reply.

But some observers felt the UN Command might now be willing to settle for less than a formal ban on military airfield construction.

They believed Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner in effect is asking the Reds for an oral pledge not to build or repair airfields while an armistice is in force. Such a promise would become part of the conference record, but not of the armistice agreement itself.

An oral pledge not to build or repair military bases, if accepted by the UN, would eliminate the final obstacle barring agreement on how to supervise a truce. This single issue has deadlocked the armistice talks for the last two weeks.

Gov. Lausche Comes out for Fourth Term

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—(P)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced Saturday he will seek a fourth term as Ohio governor.

The announcement was made in a 30-word statement issued at the governor's office at 11 a. m.

The statement said: "Governor Lausche today announced that he will be a candidate for the office of governor at the May primary on the Democratic ticket."

The announcement was believed to have cleared the way for Price Stabilizer Michael J. DiSalle of Toledo to run for the U. S. Senate post now held by Sen. John W. Bricker, a Republican. DiSalle is a Democrat.

The announcement ended much speculation as to whether Lausche would seek the Senate seat himself.

DiSalle said only Friday that he would announce his political intentions within 10 days.

Some political observers said this would indicate prior conferences between DiSalle and Lausche since the Ohio governor had not then made known his own intention.

DiSalle has said he would need 10 days after a Lausche decision to clear up several matters and determine his political course.

REDS DOWN ALLIED PLANES

SEOUL, Jan. 12.—(P)—The Reds knocked down three Sabrejets in air combat and blasted 13 other United Nations planes out of the North Korean skies with ground fire in the week ended Friday. It was the costliest seven-day period for UN air forces since the war began.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said UN jets shot down 12 Russian-made MIG-15s and damaged 14 in aerial battle in the same period. Red planes have not yet ventured within range of UN ground fire.

Woman Back Home After Being 'Buried'

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—(P)—Mrs. Fannie Reed, the woman who was believed to have been dead and buried many months ago, is back with her family in nearby Williamsburg.

The weighted body of a young woman, found in a creek near Augusta, Ky., last May was identified as that of Mrs. Reed. It was buried in Williamsburg just across the street from where the husband, William C. Reed, and their three children lived.

Letters from Mrs. Reed in Nebraska changed the whole story and it developed the body was that of Juanita Bailey of Akron.

Friday, Mrs. Reed arrived here with the word that "I wasn't scared about it, but I just thought I ought to clear it up. That is the reason I came home."

She said she had been "around and around."

Her husband and their three children, Carl 12; Billie, 10, and Diane, 8, were at the station to greet her.

Funeral Picketing Denied by Union

AKRON, Jan. 12.—(P)—A union spokesman has denied that members who are striking the Billow Funeral Chapel had picketed Grace Evangelical Church.

James A. Rodgers, international representative of the AFL-International Union of Operating Engineers, declared that "none of our men was there," and no service had been picketed.

Richard Ault, secretary of the 77-year-old chapel, said Friday that both the chapel and the church had been picketed.

Debris Found In Ship Hunt

SEATTLE, Jan. 12.—(P)—Spurred by the finding of debris and floating cargo, air and sea searchers pointed Saturday toward a smaller area southeast of the spot where the Freighter Pennsylvania and its 45 man crew last were heard from Wednesday.

The floating material included a hatch cover, lumber, boxes, drums and an oil slick. The discovery resulted in immediate change of plans, cutting down the search area from 10,800 square miles to a 60 by 60 mile area.

Accused Rapist To Plead Innocent

SEATTLE, Jan. 12.—(P)—Dr. Roy B. Patton, 29, former hospital intern, pleaded innocent by reason of mental irresponsibility Friday to charges of raping a woman polio patient in a hospital ward.

Dr. Patton, formerly of Columbus, Ohio, was committed to a state hospital last week for 60 days observation to determine if he is a sexual psychopath.

His victim, a 22-year-old housewife and mother of two children, claims he gave her a sedative and then attacked her.

Ohio Farming Business over Billion Dollars

Dairying Was Ohio's Biggest Rural Enterprise

Striking facts about Ohio's farming business during 1950 are revealed by the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission following analysis of county farm statistics recently released by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

The report summarizes follows: In 1950, as usual, about a billion dollars went to Ohio farmers for farm crops sold. Total sales of farm products amounted to $903,412,000. In addition government payments of $7,435,600 were made. Allowing 20 percent for products used on the farm makes the year's produce worth over a billion.

The statistics are the latest in an annual series of reports issued since 1929. The figures covering 1950 farm production were compiled by E. R. Westcott and J. I. Falconer, department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, Ohio State University and Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dairying, including sale of veal calves, was the biggest paying enterprise, amounting to over 240 million dollars, or 26.56 percent of Ohio farm income. Dairying was the largest source of income in 54 counties, and second in 26.

Poultry isn't pin money to Ohio farmers. It is third source of farm income, or 11.63 percent of the total. One county, Henry, sold nearly 15 million dollars worth of poultry products, first source of farm income in the county, 18 percent of all farm products sold. Poultry was second source of income in 22 counties and third in 33.

Wheat, with $72,177,000 or 7.99 percent, and beef cattle, with $65,993,000 or 7.30 percent of the total, were fourth and fifth respectively in sales by Ohio farmers. Corn, $51,498,000 or 5.70 percent, was sixth. Popcorn brought an additional $787,000.

Soybeans, seventh, brought in $48,471,000 or 5.37 percent of the total. Greenhouse and nursery products came next, with $30,722,000, amounting to 3.40 percent, followed by truck crops worth $16,806,000, or 1.86 percent. Ohio sheep brought 1.67 percent of the total farm income, $15,084,000; fruit 1.47 percent, $13,290,000; tobacco 1.15 percent, $10,358,000.

Other crops included hay, 0.99 percent, $8,928,000; oats, 0.93 percent, $8,374,000; potatoes 0.75 percent, $6,753,000; forest products (including maple syrup) 0.57 percent, $5,141,000; sugar beets 0.36 percent, $3,212,000.

Greenhouse crops, marketed in the nearby cities, were first income producers in Lucas and Cuyahoga Counties. Nursery products were first in Lake County, with 48 percent of the county total. Three counties got the largest part of their return to farms from soy beans, and two from tobacco.

Darke, Wayne and Wood Counties usually vie for top rank in farm sales. In 1950 they finished in that order.

Farm sales per acre ranged from (greenhouse farming pays well on area covered) to allow of $10.52. The state average per acre was $41.42. The majority of below-average counties are in unglaciated southeastern Ohio.

Oddly enough, the report fails to state where the swine industry ranks in the state.

Activities On the Farm

By THOMAS E. BERRY

"FEED THE LAND and it will feed you"—This proverb has recently come to my desk. It has a lot of science in it. We know now, that even virgin land—land that has never been cropped, may need feeding, and we used to think that it didn't. It usually responds very well to applications of lime, and phosphorus fertilizers often give very good results, even when they are distributed on pasture land and nothing else is done. This is one reason for the great increase in the yield and the quality of permanent pastures. "Lime brings the clover in my pastures," is a report I often get from farmers. The explanation is very simple. If you will mark off a square foot of surface at several places in these pastures, and then get down on your prayer joints and look the ground over carefully inside the squares, you're pretty apt to find from three to five dwarfed clover plants of some kind and especially white clover. The lime is a limiting factor for most of the clovers, and when it is applied they make a vigorous growth and in so doing enrich the pasture. The grasses respond well to lime and phosphorus too. Then the quality of the pastures is improved and the palatability; in other words there is more grass on the land and it tastes better.

One of the many things that can be done at this season of the year to feed the land, is to get the manure on it, soon after it is made, for it deteriorates rapidly in storage, and if it is thrown out of the barn, and gets rained on a few times, much of the fertilizing value is washed away.

Manure doesn't depreciate very much in a covered barn lot, or in the loafing sheds for dairy cattle in winter but when warm spring days come, ammonia is lost, that it is easily detected as soon as you open the barn door in the morning. Letting this manure pile up on you, gives you a very hard job to do too, unless you have a manure loader, and even then it takes a good one to handle it.

Hauling manure is just one of the many farm jobs that can't be put off without taking a loss.

Ohio Corn Yield Could Be Upped

More Fertilizer Is Recommended

Ohio farmers could increase their corn yields by more than 30 bushels per acre if they could follow recommended practices, an extension agronomist said today.

D. R. Dodd at Ohio State University said, "With good seed adequate fertilizer and good cultural practices, corn yields could average 82 bushels instead of the present 48-50 bushels per acre." He pointed out that the Agricultural Extension Service and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station recommended at least twice as much fertilizer as was used last year.

"Even though we're using two or three times as much fertilizer as we once did, we still are not using enough," Dodd added. Present fertilizer production is not adequate to supply farmers with amounts recommended by authorities. Dodd explained that production is based on use. Until farmers start wanting more fertilizers, manufacturers will not produce it.

LAST YEAR, farmers in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconsin applied an average 79.8 pounds of fertilizer per acre to corn. Authorities recommended an average 175 pounds per acre. The eight states could have produced 235,447,000 more bushels of corn if farmers could have followed recommendations.

Dodd said, "One way to increase production is to use good management methods including fertilizer application. Fertilizer does its best job when it's used with good seed and cultural practices. To get better corn yields, most farmers need legumes, grass, fertilizer and heavier planting rates."

With proper cultural practices, good corn land will yield best if about 15,000 plants per acre are produced. Most farmers do not plant corn that thick. On poor land, however, increased planting rates will not produce great yield increases, Dodd said.

Fungicide for Tree Diseases

A new fungicide that will be available in limited supply this year is the only material that has given acceptable control of both late blight and anthracnose of tomatoes, B. F. Janson said today. Janson, extension specialist at Ohio State University, described the material as an organic fungicide called manzate. It is a wet-

Minimum Price Table Set Up for Farm Taxes

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—(AP)—State Tax Commissioner John W. Peck has taken the first step to bring about greater uniformity in assessing personal property taxes on Ohio farmers.

He issued a table of minimum prices, taken from the U. S. Department of Agricultural Marketing services. These prices are to be used by county auditors, as agents for the tax commissioner, in assessing personal property taxes.

Peck said there has been little uniformity in prices used by auditors in basing their valuations of personal property on farms. He cited cases where farmers in one county would be assessed tax on an article based on one value, but farmers in an adjoining county would pay taxes based on higher or lower values for the same article.

Prime purpose of the new table, Peck said, was to achieve uniformity. Here are the minimum values which the auditors have been ordered to follow:

Registered Livestock Per Head

Calves, $50 to $100 up; yearlings, $275 up; heifers, one to two years, $200 up; cows, $350 up; bulls, $350 up; lambs, $35 up; lambs, two years and over, $40 up; rams, $50 up; pigs, $20 up; boars, $80 up; gilts, $100 up; sows, $140 up; saddle horses, $100 up; race horses, $200 up; ponies, $100 up.

Household Hints

By NORMA CAMPBELL
(Home Demonstration Agent)

One breakfast job fast disappearing from home kitchens is squeezing oranges for juice. Housewives are finding that it pays in money and time saved to let the processor prepare the juice and buy either the frozen concentrate or the canned orange juice. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, reports that in the past 10 years the marketing of Florida oranges to processors has risen from 14 percent to more than 62 percent of the crop, and that processing of Arizona and California oranges also is increasing.

Consumers are using more than twice as much frozen concentrate as they were two years ago and have increased their purchases of canned single-strength juice.

Orange juice—whether fresh, canned or frozen—is an excellent source of vitamin C. Everyone should have one or more servings of daily citrus or other vitamin C foods each day.

When buying oranges, look for oranges that are firm, are heavy for their size, and have a fine-textured skin for the variety. Oranges with a slight greenish tinge may be just as ripe as fully colored ones. Fresh oranges, like other fruits, are most economical when in greatest supply—from December to May.

One No. 2 can of orange juice provides 5 half-cup servings, one No. 3 cylinder provides 12 half-cup servings, and one 6-fluid-ounce can of frozen concentrate provides 6 half-cup servings. One pound of fresh oranges provides 2 or 3 half-cup servings of sections.

Store oranges at room temperature if not above 70 deg. F., or preferably in the refrigerator.

Serve halves and slices for appetizer or dessert, segments in salads and in fruit cup, and juice for breakfast, lunch and dinner, and for pick-ups.

Paroles Are Granted To 20 More Japs

TOKYO, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Twenty more Japanese war criminals serving 10 to 12 year sentences have been ordered paroled Jan. 22 from Sugamo Prison.

The releases will bring to 575 the number of war criminals freed under supervision by the U. S. Command's parole plan.

Most of the 20 were convicted of war crimes in connection with prison camps and occupation duty in Japan's war-conquered territories.

Winter Liming--Yes or No?

Yes, say the experts. Take advantage of slack periods to lime pastures and cropland. Then, during the winter season, rains and melting snow, and the action of freezing and thawing, will carry the limestone down into the ground where it can work and recondition the soil.

Next spring, you'll be glad you made the effort. For Agricultural Limestone corrects the acid condition of the soil, stimulates nitrogen-forming processes, and in general, prepares the land for the process of raising better crops. The bonus also is profitably larger yields per acre, proven through experiments in Ohio and other states.

Farm Surplus Stocks Shrink

Vast Store of Food Is Being Unloaded

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—That well-stocked special sales counter of surplus farm products Uncle Sam set up two years ago is taking on the appearance of a bargain basement after a shoppers' rampage.

In short, it is nearly empty—reflecting a heavy volume of sales and government withdrawal of some stocks for possible future emergencies.

Two years ago this month, the Agriculture Department, holder of a mounting supply of farm commodities which at that time involved an investment of more than $4 billion, adopted a policy of offering specific items each month for sale at home and abroad. Many of them were priced at bargain rates.

The first sales list included dried milk, cheese, butter, peanuts, linseed oil, dried beans, wheat, flaxseed, oats, barley, corn, potatoes, potato starch, Mexican canned meat, dried eggs, frozen turkeys, and cottonseed oil.

THE LIST for this month includes only dry beans, dried eggs, dried milk, linseed oil, flaxseed, very small quantities of wheat, oats and corn and barley. Dry beans are the only items offered foreign buyers.

Government stocks have dwindled sharply under impact of the Korean war. The conflict has spurred foreign as well as domestic buying.

Furthermore, production of some crops since the sales plan was started have not kept pace with requirements. Hence, buyers turned to the department surpluses. As a consequence, the government's investment has dropped to about $2 billion.

For example it had $1 billion worth of cotton then and only $157 million now. Wheat stocks have declined from $1 billion to $728 million, corn from $880 million to $700 million, wool from $40 million to nothing.

Flaxseed from $84 million to nothing, butter from $62 million to nothing, dried eggs from $98 to $17 million, dried milk from $35 to $8 million and linseed oil from $116 to $60 million.

Officials say it would be relatively easy to sell the bulk of the remaining stocks on grain if they were made available. But the department is offering only five million bushels of wheat monthly and only 50 million bushels of corn, from stocks of 300 million bushels of the former and 480 million of the latter.

WITH THE nation using grains at a faster rate than they have been produced since 1949, the department believes unlimited sales would result in grain moving into hands of speculators and hoarders. It prefers to follow a policy of doling the grain out.

The department has lost slightly more than $500 million on its farm stocks during the last two calendar years. The bulk of this was on potatoes, dried eggs and dried milk—all perishable items which were sold at less than cost.

Although the department still holds some dried eggs, it no longer is in the business of supporting poultry prices. Neither is it supporting potato prices. Very little dried milk has been bought during the last 15 months because of a heavier consumer demand for dairy products.

Weather Wears Out Tractors

Farm tractors, exposed to winter weather, will wear out fast than they will while in use.

S. G. Huber, extension agricultural engineer at Ohio State University, said tractors that are not being used should be stored right away if they are not sheltered now. Storage includes sheltering and giving special attention to some parts.

Huber advised a thorough cleaning—especially of the engine—as the first step. Blocking up the tractor will take weight off tires. Radiator, block, gasoline tank, fuel lines and carburetor need to be drained.

Fresh oil and rust inhibitor will help keep the crankcase in better condition. Kerosene or light oil poured into each cylinder also will help. Huber said to turn the engine over a few times to cover all parts with oil. Rags put over exhaust and crankcase breather pipes will help keep out dirt and moisture.

Extortionists Foiled By Indochina Police

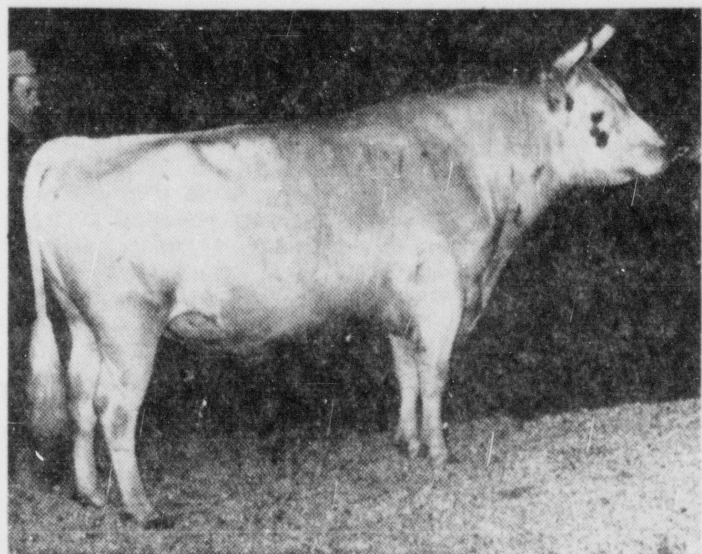

SAIGON, Indochina.—Swift action by police nipped an attempt to extort $5,000 from the manager of the Bank of China in the all-Chinese twin city of Cholon.

He received a demand, written in Chinese, to show up at a spot outside Saigon-Cholon with the money or face the consequences. Instead of yielding, the manager informed the police, and failed to keep the rendezvous.

A second note told him that "our representatives" would show up at the bank to get the money. They did, but security police officers, planted in the building, seized one of the would-be extortioners, the other two fled. One of these later was arrested.

Grimshaw Named Animal Specialist

Appointment of Ralph Grimshaw as an extension animal science specialist at Ohio State University was announced today by C. M. Ferguson, director of the Agricultural Extension Service.

Grimshaw comes to the university from Clinton County where he has been county agricultural agent since 1947. He is one of three extension specialists in the College of Agriculture's department of animal science.

Prior to his work in Clinton County, Grimshaw was in charge of grading lambs for pools operated by a Cincinnati livestock commission firm. Before his 4 years' in that capacity, he had been a vocational agriculture teacher in Perry and Highland counties for 12 years.

Grimshaw holds a bachelor of science degree from Ohio State University from which he was graduated in 1931.

Ohio High in Scrap Drive

Metal Collections Unusually Heavy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(INS)—The Agriculture Department is renewing its battle with the American Farm Bureau over the controversial family farm policy review

Ohio ranked among the first 10 states in the farm scrap drive October 15 to November 15, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

During the month-long drive, 528,000 tons of scrap metal were collected from farms in the United States. Ohio farms contributed 22,000 tons. Only five other states had contributed more during the campaign.

Although the campaign as a national activity closed November 15, scrap drives are continuing in some Ohio counties, a spokesman for Dale C. Williams, head of the State Mobilization committee, reported. USDA estimated that a million tons of scrap will be collected in the United States as a direct result of the October-November campaign.

"If the million tons are realized," the department said, "it will contribute more than three-fourths of the scrap required to produce the steel that goes into one year's output of new farm machinery. Scrap metal, 50 percent of the ingredients of steel, not only improves quality of steel but reduces costs and time of steel refining."

In Ohio, Champaign, Putnam and Brown counties are continuing the campaign on a county basis, according to Robert F. Bauer, Williams' spokesman.

Farm Machinery Needs Protection

Relative scarcity and high cost of farm machinery make it even more important to protect and service farm machinery when it is not being used, S. G. Huber, extension agricultural engineer at Ohio State University, said today.

Huber pointed out that now, when there is no field work and machinery is idle, is the time to make repairs. Then field work will not be delayed during the spring rush. Huber said all machinery should be in storage. If there isn't room, rearrangement to get everything under cover will pay. Actual sacrifice of space used for some other purpose may be necessary.

All unpainted parts need lubrication to protect them from rust, Huber added.

Ag. Department and Farm Bureau Continue Family Farm Policy Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(INS)—The Agriculture Department is renewing its battle with the American Farm Bureau over the controversial family farm policy review program by carrying its cause to farmers themselves.

Under Secretary of Agriculture Clarence J. McCormick is delivering a series of talks to production and marketing groups at various points around the country. He spoke in St. Louis and New Orleans this week.

In these talks, McCormick is mining no words about opposition to the family farm program, which so far has been concentrated in the Farm Bureau. The theme of all the talks appears to be unity among farmers, their organizations and the government in achieving record 1952 production goals.

Coupling the farm review program with other farm programs, McCormick warned that they have to buck the bitter opposition of what he called unthinking or misinformed obstructionists who have opposed every "forward-looking policy and program."

HE SAID this "boring in" will not diminish in the near future and added that all indications point to an all-out attack on farm programs this year.

McCormick said farmers should be on the alert to protect and preserve the Democratic system of administering their own programs, alleging there are those who would take it away.

He said there are folks who are forever talking clap-trap about centralized Washington authority and regimentation of farmers.

He said this did not square with the facts because the goal in administration of national farm programs is to put more responsibility into the hands of farmers themselves.

The Farm Bureau has been highly critical of the family farm program on the grounds that it is politically-inspired, unnecessary and incomplete. The Farm Bureau claims that farmers have their own organizations to handle the goal of the program, which is to find out what the principal farm problems are and what can be done about them.

Reverberations From the Truman Message

Those individuals in this country who approve of the idea of socialist trends in government, of more government control and great government spending, are approving of President Truman's recent message to Congress on the "State of the Union."

It has brought forth comment both critical and favorable. The general expressions heard, however, are more critical than approving.

Apparently the president sees no bright future for this nation than by continued high spending, huge outlays to other nations, higher taxes at home, stronger government control and a continuation of policies which threaten the country with bankruptcy.

He did not mention this latter exigency however, but held the threat of Communism over the head of the country as a reason for going along the same lines which get us nowhere and which threaten disaster.

None of the future promises for this country's good can be carried out without strong and courageous leadership; above all an honest leadership which moves promptly when corruption in government becomes apparent, which does more than furnish excuses or make gestures without drastic action.

Most Americans must realize by this time that there is need of a change in our present leadership in government, a leadership that will not allow other countries to regard us as "suckers"; one that will be constructive while commanding respect.

Threat to Research

Vannevar Bush is one of this country's wisest and most useful scientists. One time professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, during the war director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, he is now president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

In his annual report the other day, according to an editorial in Business Week, Bush warned against an obscure but fatal trend: bureaucratic control of scientific research. The federal government, he reports, is spending seven times as much money annually on research and development as before the war. "Many universities," Bush says, "are carrying the bulk of their research and the salaries of their graduate faculties on government funds." This means an inevitable trend toward stifling, centralized control of research.

Scientist Bush's warning should be heeded by one group in this country capable of doing something about it: businessmen. Expanded support of research in our colleges and universities by business is one way of dealing with this threat to America's leadership in production. It's a matter that company officers and directors should think about at the turning of the year.

American business has a serious responsibility to expand its support of research in colleges and universities in order to counteract the threat to American leadership in production.

If man wants but little here below, tax gatherers will see to it that he gets his wish.

Some of the presidential trial balloons are already giving every indication of over-inflation.

Surprises in Congress Directory

WASHINGTON — (P) — So you know a thing or two about Congress? Then answer these:

1. Which members of the present Congress have nine children apiece?

2. How many members were born outside the United States?

3. Which congressman has made a hole-in-one not once, but twice?

4. What Congressman's wife has "Pocahontas" for a middle name?

You can find the answers to those and heaven knows how many other questions about your lawmakers in the new, 737-page edition of the Congressional Directory, now being distributed.

In case you can't wait, here are the official answers to the questions above:

1. Reps. Rabaut (D-Mich) and Kelley (D-Pa) are the most persistent parents. Rabaut has three sons and six daughters, Kelley three daughters and six sons. No wonder there are so many Democrats around.

2. Nine members were born outside the U. S., including Rep. Frankland D. Roosevelt Jr., (D-NY) who first saw the light of day at his folks' summer place in New Brunswick, Canada.

3. The golfing congressman who has made a hole-in-one twice is Rep. McMullen (D-Fla.).

4. "Pocahontas" is the middle name of Mrs. Thomas Bahnsen Stanley (D-Va.). Her maiden name was Anne Pocahontas Bassett.

This barely scratches the surface of the no-doubt fascinating face of the no-doubt fascinating blue-covered directory.

Did you know, for instance, Rep. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), never went to high school—but became a history professor at Montana State University?

Or that Senator Langer (R-ND), by his own account, is the "only person ever arrested in any English-speaking country for filing an affidavit of prejudice against a judge."

Or that Rep. Fogarty (D-RI) is president of Bricklayers Union No. 1 in his native state?

There's inspiration to be found, too in the new directory.

You may think the time is past when a poor boy can grow up to make his country's laws—until you learn Senator Hoey (D-NC) started out as a printer's devil, Senator McFarland (D-Ariz) was a grocery clerk, Senator Flanders (R-Vt) was a machinist's apprentice, and Rep. Irving, a Democrat from President Truman's home town of Independence, Mo., was a railroad call

Independence, Security and Taxes

On March 15, I, being self-employed, will have to give the Internal Revenue Bureau $81. I have no wish to give them $81. They say it is some kind of insurance for my old age. I carry my own insurance with reputable (companies that operate on an actuarial basis, set up adequate reserves, are inspected by State Insurance Commissions.

To me, this $81 is just another tax. I shall pay it under protest because I am convinced that it is a double tax and therefore unconstitutional. Were I as courageous as Vivien Kellems, I should not pay this tax because there is no sense in it.

Certainly there is nothing in the constitution that provides that the government can force me to insure myself and select the agency for me. Not even the "welfare" phrase in the preamble warrants such an extension of governmental authority.

The reason I am involved in this payment is that I have chosen to take the risks of being self-employed. Nobody needs to pay me when I do not work. Nobody can limit me to a 40-hour week. Nobody is under a contract to provide a pension. I run my own life, take my own risks, and am doing all right, thank you.

Some people like what they call security. By that they mean that they wish to be assured that nothing untoward will happen to them. How anyone can gain such a favorable situation in life, I do not know. For instance, what is security worth when the currency is constantly losing its value? Or, what security is there in a state of constant war?

I was talking to the redoubtable Vivien Kellems, manufacturer of Stonington, Connecticut, successful rebel against the Internal Revenue Bureau's insistence upon every employer becoming a tax-collector without compensation and at his own expense.

Vivien Kellems told me of a friend who had gone through life without ever voting. This woman did not interest herself in politics, although she talked favorably of the new deal and the United Nations and such revolutionary concepts.

Her own life had been tragic. Her husband was killed in an airplane accident, leaving her with a son and another one a month on its way. After the second son was born, she went to work and devoted all the years of her life to her sons, never marrying, never interrupting her sacrifices. And now her boys are on their way to Korea.

That woman is now interested in politics. She has come to recognize that ugly word, politics, is not simply a matter of voting for one politician against another; it means the preservation of the family; it means participating in decisions which protect life and property and the social traditions of a people.

She lives in a poll tax state and she is paying up all her poll taxes in arrears, so that she can

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
A new type of penicillin drug is now being tried out for people who are allergic to penicillin. One of the most serious drawbacks to the use of this drug has been the severe allergic reactions many people have shown to it.

One such reaction is a condition called urticaria, in which the whole skin breaks out in large, raised patches, or wheals. They appear within 48 hours after taking penicillin.

Allergic Rash
Other people develop an allergic rash from 10 to 15 days after a shot of penicillin. The rash may occur over the entire body.

In rare instances, penicillin leads to a condition known as exfoliative dermatitis, in which the skin peels off in scales over the entire body. This type of reaction may even cause a permanent disability.

Allergic reactions such as these have deprived many people of the benefits to be obtained from penicillin in their fight against various infections.

Confederate Caps New Fad in Logan

LOGAN, Jan. 12.—(P)—It's a good thing none of Hocking County's Civil War Union veterans lived to see the latest fad among Logan's youngsters.

Confederate army caps are today's most popular headgear among the small fry, and there are signs the craze is spreading.

The Logan Daily News reported wryly, however, that "there is no foundation to the rumor that Confederate money may also become popular again, even though the value of the Union dollar has dropped steadily for several years."

Thanks for Cow Sent to Germany

LONG BEACH, Calif.—(P)—Officials at Long Beach City College were slightly confused recently when they received a letter from Hochach, West Germany, which started out like this:

"Honored Sirs! It is now two months since I received the cow from you. I want to express my heartiest thanks for the beautiful present."

The explanation came from a faculty adviser who recalled that part of the proceeds of the school's charity carnival had been turned over to the Heifers for Relief Fund. They had sent the cow to Bruno Gerigk in the name of the college.

The letter added: "Three days ago the cow had a calf, and both the cow and the calf are healthy and cheerful."

Canton Mayor Wants Action

CANTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Canton's new law enforcement program has been explained to the entire police force.

All department members were called to one or the other of two meetings Thursday and addressed by Carl F. Wise, new mayor, and Stanley Cnich, new safety director.

The program laid down by the mayor calls for:

Enforcement of laws "exactly as they are written," disciplinary action against policemen who associate unnecessarily with known racketeers or criminals while off duty, the backing by superiors of department members who enforce the law strictly, and the withholding of favors, no matter what the power or position of the person involved.

The new mayor declared the force would be "accountable to me solely in getting results." He said his "principal purpose" was to "rid the city to the fullest degree possible of commercialized vice and gambling." Cnich is a former state liquor law enforcement agent.

Quick Demobilizing Called Dangerous

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—(P)—An Air Force general Thursday night warned against the United States demobilizing quickly after the Korean war, like it did after World War II.

"After World War II we did in six months what the Japanese, German and Italian armies couldn't do in four years — we destroyed our armed forces," said Brig. Gen. A. Robert Ginsburgh, special assistant to Secretary of Defense Lovett.

He said the pressure is now on Washington to bring home the men from Korea.

DOVER, Jan. 12.—(P)—A 500-pound safe was stolen from the postoffice and store operated by R. E. Stone in nearby Zoarville Thursday. The safe was found blown open and emptied of an undisclosed amount of store and post-office receipts.

WAXING PLAYFUL, Mrs. Potocki is pictured in Chicago with her husband, Edward, as the two try to laugh off a suit by Lawrence J. Lowell, who ran second to Edward in the matrimonial sweepstakes. Lowell, a mechanical engineer, had designs on Rose and claims he spent $2,500 during their courtship. That was, of course, before Edward picked his Rose from him. Now Lowell's asking $400 for rings he gave her; $250 for long distance wooling; $400 for trips to visit her, and $1,250 for entertainment during their courtship.

Mrs. Karl J. Kay Is Hostess To Garden Club Members

Mrs. Karl J. Kay extended the gracious hospitality of her home on Friday afternoon to the members of the Fayette Garden Club, with Mrs. Max Dice, Mrs. John Jordan, Mrs. Glenn Pine, Mrs. Homer Garringer and Mrs. Harry Bush as her assistants.

The meeting opened with the reading of the poem of the month by the president, Mrs. Perse Harlow. The usual reports were read and accepted and a generous contribution was made to the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Harlow announced activities for the coming year and among them were the district meeting in April, the Work Shop in June, and the flower show in September.

Committees were named for the anniversary luncheon and the tea at the home of Mrs. Max Dice, both to be events of May.

Roll call was responded to by thirty-two members and the following program in charge of the president, included a paper, "The Garden in January," by Mrs. Earl Grimm, who told the members that January was a good month to sharpen tools and paint for spring work, and spoke of the importance of feeding house plants during this month. Also to plan for summer flowers, feed the birds and to use coal ashes around iris and roses.

The second paper, "Our Feathered Friends," by Mrs. Ralph Penn who spoke of the importance of birds and that people would all most perish without their help in the destroying of pests for which they forage all their lives.

Mrs. Penn also introduced Mrs. Robert R. Meriweather an authority on birds who stressed the importance of being interested in birds, and one necessity is the best book one can find on birds, also that one should create interest in others on the life and habits of birds, their care and feeding, and pointed out that a good time to start is winter, to get your feeding station started now to attract the kind of birds that you put food out for.

She told the members that Cardinals appear after 4 P. M. for feed, while tree-creepers come earlier for suet, and chickadees love peanut butter, as well as pie crust.

Discussions on both papers were participated in by the members and Mrs. Gilbert Adams showed interesting slides of various birds and a social hour followed during which tempting refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Guests included were Mrs. Anna De Weese, Mrs. Gilbert Adams, Mrs. Patton, and Mrs. Robert R. Meriweather.

Traveling Post Offices Daily Serve County's Rural People

Rural Carriers Have Close Touch With Customers

Have you ever seen a traveling postoffice with a built-in postmaster?

Every morning during the week you could see a half dozen leave Washington C. H. and you wouldn't even recognize that they were these unique postoffices.

They look just like any ordinary car, but inside you could find piles of mail, all sorted and ready to be deposited to any of several hundred mail boxes in this county.

THE MAN BEHIND the wheel would be the postmaster, and in all probabilities a veteran of perhaps a quarter of a century of service to rural people of this county.

This unique combination—car, mail and driver with a memory a mile long on postal matters—spells the rural mail carrier.

There are six of them who operate out of the Washington C. H. postoffice and one each out of Jeffersonville and Bloomingburg.

Early each morning, long before the sun comes up, the rural carriers report in at the postoffice here to pick up their mail; sort it, and get it ready to deliver.

In the basement of the postoffice the rural mail carriers sort out their mail, kid each other and discuss a thousand and one things, including the weather, but their minds are concentrated on getting the mail in the proper bundles.

WITH AS MUCH as 56 miles to cover on some of the routes the rural carriers don't have much time to make up for mistakes which they might have made in the postoffice.

They not only have to place the mail in the mail boxes but they must be ready to sell stamps, money orders, CODs, handle registered mail, packages and parcel post.

Rural residents can get practically everything from their rural mail carrier that they can get from their postoffice.

There is a closer bond between the rural carrier and his customers though, for they can see him every day, if they want to and talk briefly to him and wave a "hello" and "goodby."

EDDIE SEXTON, one of the younger mail carriers, has a couple of customers who are out waiting for him practically every day, except days when there is a howling blizzard or other inclement weather. They are Mrs. Forrest McAllister and Perrill Ellenberger.

Others who don't have such a close daily contact with their traveling postmaster let their rural carrier know that he isn't forgotten, especially around Christmas time.

During the last yuletide season one of the rural carriers, Roy Purcell, who is from Bloomingburg, received 16 Christmas presents. Eddie Sexton said he got 12 presents. There were such things as eggs, steak, pork tenderloin, homemade cake and hand-knit socks in mail boxes for the rural carriers when they came along. Some of them were turned over personally by the rural people.

ONE OF THE REAL old timer rural carriers here is Harry H. Hiser, who spent his first year delivering mail from a horse-drawn wagon and who has marked up 33 years as a rural carrier.

But Virgil Sexton is the oldest rural carrier from the standpoint of service with the U. S. Postal Service. He will have completed 39 years with the service on March 22.

These old timers spent many years delivering mail in the reliable old Model T Fords, which had an amazing alacrity for climbing over ruts and through sloppy mud when roads in this county were not what they are today.

In the early days, though, the rural carriers didn't have routes half the size of present routes, in many cases. Hizer recalls that some of the routes were only 20 to 29 miles long.

Now, with roads considerably improved and with modern automobiles available the rural carriers cover up to 56 miles every day during the week on their routes.

Oran W. Ellis, who has been a rural carrier here since May of 1919, has 56.08 miles to cover on his route. Purcell has 56.49 miles; Eddie Sexton, 41.90, and Hiser, 51.76.

MOST OF THE carriers get started shortly after 8 o'clock each morning, but they complete their routes between 12:30 and 2 P. M. each day.

Virgil Sexton, who is the president of the Rural Letter Carriers Association in this county, said carriers were fortunate in this county since they had such good roads to cover.

But during the daily runs of the rural carriers there are some difficult bouts with the weather which must be faced from time to time.

During the Thanksgiving blizzard which swept this county for almost a week, a little over a year ago some of the rural carriers couldn't reach their points of delivery for several days. Driving was especially bad along the seldom-traveled country roads. Once when Purcell was driving along a country road along his route he saw a house on fire, and promptly rushed to the scene and put it out, perhaps saving an old man and his sister, who lived there. His efforts were in vain, however, for not long afterwards the house burned down.

RURAL CARRIERS are generally a happy contented lot who have considerable pride in their jobs and take their responsibilities seriously. There is one thing that their customers do which the carriers would like to see corrected, namely, that the customers would buy enough stamps to last them longer than a day or two.

Of course, the carriers would get a big boost in morale if rural residents would fix up their mail box-

so that they are more accessible.

The rural carriers say that they have a long enough reach without straining for a box that is bent part way over.

Incidentally, the carriers said they preferred to drive standard make cars, with the conventional steering wheel on the left side. While they have a long reach to make for the mail boxes, they would rather make the reach than have to drag mail over a steering wheel.

In the daily process of reaching hundreds of times across their front seats to the mail boxes the carriers find that their seat covers and arm sleeves take a beating. One of the carriers showed where the bottom part of a coat sleeve was getting tattered from wear.

County Pays Bounty On 227 Foxes in 1951

It cost Fayette Countians $567.50 to pay the bounty on 227 foxes killed in the county last year.

The bounty paid by the county is $2.50 for each set of feet of a slain fox. Many of the feet were those of very young foxes, on which the bounty was the same as on the adult foxes.

Practically all of the animals were red foxes, and they were brought in from practically every part of the county, with a liberal number from the southern part of the county and areas along the main streams of the county.

The bounty is offered to help keep the number of foxes reduced to save pheasants and other wild life, as well as to stop inroads on the farmers' poultry.

A school of "soldier" trout will all swim in the same direction, at the same speed each a set number of "paces" apart.

Believe Mastodon Died by Trampling

Scientists, checking the bones of an immature mastodon, found on the Orleton Farm in Madison County two years ago, expressed the belief that the animal might have died by being trampled.

Their findings, published in the January issue of the Ohio Journal of Science, indicate the mastodon was not full size.

It died in a shallow pond or small lake which existed in Madison County following the last glacier.

Dr. Edward S. Thomas, curator of natural history of the Ohio State Museum, said the trampling was indicated by the fact that many of the bones were broken squarely.

The animal is believed to have lived 9,000 to 15,000 years ago.

It is also possible that the animal might have perished in boggy terrain, and its bones were later crushed by other huge elephants, either mastodons or mammoths, both of which roamed this area thousands of years ago.

Lions Beat Ashland, 61 to 60, in Thrill-Packed Game Here

Wild Bedlam Breaks Loose After Upset Victory by WHS

A last half drive that was good for 34 points pulled the game out of the fire and gave the Lions cagers of WHS a hard-earned 61 to 60 victory over the highly touted aggregation of basketballers from Ashland on the WHS floor Friday night.

It was a point-for-point battle from the start with the ultimate outcome in the balance until the final buzzer.

The game ended in a bedlam of excited screaming that often drowned out the sound of the officials' whistles.

The windup came with players of both teams sprawling over the floor in a scramble for the ball while the Lions were trying to stall out their one-point lead. In the last 12 seconds, the Ashlanders three times rolled the ball-freezing Lions in a desperate effort to get the ball; and three times the officials called fouls on them that gave the Lions the ball out of bounds.

WHEN IT ENDED the crowd swarmed on the floor slapping the victorious Lions on the back in a wild and hilarious melee.

The WHS victory was somewhat of an upset, for the Ashlanders were and still should be) rated as one of the top teams of the state. It snapped a 10-game win-streak for the Ashland crew and the boys from up north were a dejected lot as they trudged off the floor in defeat.

But, they had nothing to be ashamed of; they had undoubtedly the best team the Lions have met this season; a smoothly operating, fast passing, sharp-shooting and aggressive bunch.

Three main factors contributed to the Lion victory: (1) Bud Dawson was hotter than a firecracker as he hit for 17 points with both long and short shots; (2) the ball hawking of Bob Alkire, Jack Rettig and Glenn Milstead and (3) control of the bank boards 75 percent of the time by Wayne Van Meter and Lloyd Arnold. These three, plus a never-say-die spirit and above par accuracy, turned the trick.

The Lions led all the way in the first quarter, although the As pulled up and tied the rampaging Lions three times during the stanza.

In the second quarter, Ashland surprised the hosts with a pressing defense that proved effective. The Lions seemed unable to cope with the tight defense. They broke through for only three baskets and two charity tosses.

THE WHS BOYS kept the score close, letting the As in for four buckets. The As built up their 6-point halftime lead on the free throw line with seven out of eight good ones.

Dawson and Alkire sparked the scoring after the intermission as they swished the nets three times apiece. The momentum of the third quarter drive brought the Lions to within one point of tying the game as the quarter ended.

A long shot in the first few seconds of the final stanza gave the Lions the lead, but from then on it was a mad scramble—the score changing with almost each second of the quarter.

Ashland was fast-breaking down court for its points while the Lions fed the ball in on both sides using a screen.

With less than 30 seconds to go in the game, the Lions were trailing 60 to 59. Ashland's defense was pressing in and the Lions seemed unable to get in under the boards. With only 15 seconds remaining and two of the starting Lions, Alkire and Rettig, out on fouls, Dawson pushed a long one toward the hoop—it cut the nets and the Lions were on top.

A SCRAMBLE for the ball on the sidelines led to some confusion. One referee called it out for the Lions—the other said Ashland. The referees decided to call it a jump ball and the timekeeper did not see the time out signal, if there was one.

The matter was straightened out and the Lions got possession of the ball on the jump. Ashland tried desperately to get it back in the final seconds, but the Lions were able to stall the last 15 seconds.

Dick Barr, Ashland forward, led the game scoring with 21 points, followed by teammate Russ Harpster with 20 points.

THE BLUE AND WHITE reserves were too tall for the Madison Mills varsity as they won the preliminary game, 47 to 41.

The Millers made a last quarter drive that almost doubled their score. They trailed 36 to 21 at the end of the third frame. In the final stanza they racked up 20 points.

Dale Dawson led the Lion Reserve scoring and the game scoring with 20 points. Ron Hidy, Miller center, led his team with 11 tallies.

Next Tuesday the Lions will go to Wilmington for a SCO League game and on Friday they will be at Hillsboro for another league tilt.

New Holland Wins Frankfort Overtime

New Holland's Bulldogs added their eleventh basketball victory in 13 games this season when they nudged out Frankfort, 62 to 59, in a whirlwind overtime period at Frankfort Friday night.

It was a see-saw game from start to finish; the two teams were never separated by more than a point at any time.

In the free-scoring affair, both teams resorted to both long set shots and close-ups as the climax of driving in maneuvers.

With only seconds left in the game, and the Bulldogs ahead 55-54, Vincent took the ball to stall it out. But, the scoreboard was off and just before the end it flashed the correct score of 55-55, but the Bulldogs did not see it. Thus, they froze themselves unwittingly into an overtime.

And, what an overtime that was! The Bulldogs loosed an offense that netted 7 points in the three minutes despite the careful play.

Meanwhile, the Frankfort aggregation was anything but idle... and came through with 4 points.

Vincent with 19 and Reed with 18 set the offensive pace for the Bulldogs, but all of the starters had a hand in the scoring.

In the preliminary, the New Holland Reserves took a 39 to 15 trouncing.

Golf Tourney Scores Blown Up by Big Wind

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 12 —(P)—A big wind blew scores sky high in the opening round of the Bing Crosby $10,000 national pro-amateur 54-hole golf tournament and left Jimmy Demaret out in front with a plump 74.

Demaret and Screen-Radio Comedian Bob Hope teamed for a best ball of 70 to share a second place tie in the pro-amateur doubles competition.

Three players in the American League played in all their team's games in 1951. They were Ed Yost of Washington, Al Rosen of Cleveland and Gerry Priddy of Detroit.

Tiny Farm Memorial to Coach And Also Is Help to Athletes

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
BROWNWOOD, Tex.—Out along Pecan Bayou is a living, growing memorial to one of the greatest coaches in Texas history.

It's a tiny farm and it has made possible the continuance of athletics at Daniel Baker College. Since Daniel Baker provided agriculture scholarships, he asked that his prospective basketball players be admitted in that manner. And since the athletic dormitory would be vacant, he asked that rooms be provided for the nine youngsters. That left the problem of board, which Caskey said he would provide one way or another.

W. O. Cross, president of Daniel Baker, approved the plan, pending final arrangements by Caskey to provide the board.

Readey spent two weeks going up and down Pecan Bayou for a plot of irrigated land, one portion of his board-providing plan. Finally he found 4½ available acres and H. M. Gilley, the owner, donated the use of them.

Everybody pitched in. The farm began producing more vegetables. The students used the practical experience to supplement what they learned in the classrooms, and in addition, sale of the vegetables and their use at the college training table made possible the keep of the athletes. And he bought a bus to transport his basketball team.

Rules for Training
Are Given to Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(P)—All work and no play—except baseball—will be the order of the day for the Philadelphia Phillies at their 1952 Spring training camp in Clearwater, Fla.

Manager Eddie Sawyer has announced a six-point set of rules as follows:

1. No wives in camp; 2. No automobiles; 3. No swimming or card playing; 4. Midnight curfew; 5. Breakfast at 8 a. m. and on the field by 9:30; 6. No player in camp who has not signed a 1952 contract.

Bob Hudson, flashy end on the New York grid Giants, ran the 100 and 220 yards, threw the discus and put the shot on Clemson's track squad.

Jeffersonville Wins From Bloomington

Basketball fans of both Jeffersonville and Bloomington today were still trying to catch their games at Jeffersonville Friday night—everyone of the three tilts were decided on a margin of a single point.

In the curtain raiser, the Jeffersonville Juniors won by a score of 23 to 22, and in the Reserve emerged with a 25 to 24 victory.

In the main event, the Jeffersonville Tiger Varsity eeked out a 53 to 52 win over the Bulldogs in a battle that was nip and tuck from the start.

FOR THE TIGERS, it was the second County League victory against one defeat and for the Bulldogs, it was the first league set back against two victories.

Although Stockwell paced the victors with 22 points, the Tigers scoring was pretty well spread over the entire team.

But for the Bulldogs it was the Weaver brothers, Dan and Bob, who spearheaded the Bloomington offense almost exclusively. Dan hit for 23 points and Bob for 19.

The game was all tied up at 38-all at the end of the third period. Then the Tigers pulled into a slight lead and were ahead 53 to 49 with five seconds to go. Fearful of the always dangerous Bulldogs, the Tigers tried to stretch their lead rather than to stall out their advantage. Dan Weaver snatched the ball and hit for two points and the Bulldogs started pressing—but time ran out on them while the Tigers were tearing down the floor for another try.

Fight Manager Slugs Referee

Durando Given TKO
Over Castellani

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(P)—State Boxing Commission Chairman Bob Christenberry is ready to revoke Manager Tommy Ryan's license and possibly impose a big fine on him for his assault on Referee Ray Miller in a wild aftermath to the Ernie Durando - Rocky Castellani fight in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The manager stormed into the ring and threw punches at Miller seconds after the referee stopped the fight at 2:04 of the seventh round and awarded a technical knockout to Durando over Castellani, Ryan's fighter. The match was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Castellani had just staggered to his feet at nine after being clipped with a terrific right uppercut when Miller intervened.

"I stopped it because Castellani would have been hurt," Miller said. "You know how hard Durando can punch."

Durando, a stocky, powerful puncher from Bayonne, N. J., is one of the hardest hitters in the middleweight ranks.

Christenberry suspended Ryan on the spot, ordered Castellani's purse of some $7,000 held up, and advised Ryan to appear at a hearing at the state boxing commission offices Saturday.

AND IF HE planned to take away Ryan's license, Christenberry said: "Yes, I'll do everything in my power to see that he regrets creating such a disorderly scene." (Editor's note: Actually, television fans did not see the attack on the referee. Instead, they were treated to a commercial on razor blades.)

Castellani said: "I didn't hear the count and I wasn't hurt. I asked the referee to please stop the fight. I was surprised when he did. I thought the round was over."

Rocky, who weighed 158 to Durando's 157½, was a 9 to 5 favorite. He had looked like the probable winner through the first five rounds.

But near the end of the sixth, Durando whacked Rocky on the head with his right and dropped him for nine.

In the seventh it was all Castellani for nearly two minutes. Suddenly Durando brought up a smashing uppercut that dropped Rocky on his face. Castellani barely staggered to his feet at nine and his legs were wobbling.

Miller took one look at Castellani's eyes and stopped the fight.

Collegians Are Upset In Hula Bowl Game

HONOLULU, Jan. 12.—(P)—The Hawaii All Stars upset the College All Stars, 39-27, here Friday night in the second Hula Bowl football game of the new year.

The pro passing combination of Quarterback Frankie Albert to End Tommy Fears was the undoing of the Collegians. Albert passed to Fears for four touchdowns. The two set up another score via the air.

Fete for Jim Thorpe Is Planned at Canton

CANTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Jim Thorpe, named the greatest athlete of the last half century, is expected to attend a dinner for his benefit here Jan. 30.

Proceeds will go to Thorpe who recently underwent a successful lip operation for cancer and who is reported pressed for money. He played for the Canton Bulldogs from 1915 to 1920, aiding them to professional football titles.

Unbeaten Lions Lead SCO

Wilmington Loses to Circleville; Greenfield Gets Non-League Win

Although the Lions of WHS today still headed the SCO League basketball parade as the only team in the circuit without a league defeat, there was plenty of evidence that this season's scramble would be one of the most wild and woolly in years.

While the Lions were the only team with a clean league slate not one of the other four was without a victory.

Circleville's Tigers came through Friday night with their first win of the season (the tourney excepted) when they trounced Wilmington's Hurricane, 64 to 52.

That was something of a surprise, because the Hurricane only Tuesday had swept Hillsboro's Indians off their feet to win 69 to 53. And, to top that off, the Indians whipped the Circleville boys, 46 to 44.

GREENFIELD, the early season favorite, was knocked off a week ago by the Lions, 51 to 47, in a game that the Greenfield fans and the newspaper denounced as "open to criticism."

Greenfield won a non-league encounter Friday night, 57 to 30, from Columbus Rosary.

Hillsboro's Indians were idle Friday night.

Here is the SCO standing as of right now:

Washington C. H. 2 0
Greenfield 2 1
Wilmington 1 1
Hillsboro 1 2
Circleville 1 3

Many of the past and future opponents of the Lions were in action Friday night. Here are the scores of a few of the many basketball games played by Ohio high school teams:

In loving memory of my dear father, months ago today, July 12, 1951.

They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget.

How much I miss him yet.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.
Sadly missed by his daughter, Lucy

Declarations Due This Month

Record High Income Tax To Be Paid by Farmers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(A)—A merican farmers will pour a record number of dollars into Uncle Sam's tax coffers this month.

January is the big federal income tax-paying month for the nation's agricultural producers. For income tax purposes a farmer is one who received two-thirds of his income from farming.

Farmers who had a gross income of $600 or more in 1951 are required to file estimates of their 1951 income and tax. These declarations, together with payment of estimated taxes, are due Jan.
15.

However, farmers may file their final tax returns and pay their taxes in full on or before Jan. 31. If they do this, they are not required to file an estimated return by Jan.

15. They can wind up the whole thing Jan. 31.

But if farmers do not intend to file final returns by Jan. 31, they must file declarations of estimated tax by Jan. 15 and final returns—with the tax money—by March 15.

DECLARATIONS of estimated income tax are made on income tax Form 1040-F which may be obtained from the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the farmer lives.

The government keeps no separate figures on income taxes paid by farmers, but total farm income was near a record level this year. Tax rates are higher too, so total taxes are expected to be the largest ever paid by farmers.

Under changes in tax laws passed a few months ago, farmers may treat as capital gains or losses receipts from sale of livestock used for draft, breeding or dairy purposes for 12 months.

Under such treatment, farmers would pay taxes only on one half the receipts rather than on all.

The law did not include poultry (chickens, turkeys, ducks, geese etc.) as livestock for this purpose.

These changes in the law were designed to clear up a controversial issue. A number of tax cases involving receipts from sale of dairy cattle, work horses, and cattle and hogs used for breeding purposes have wound up in the courts.

Another change affecting some farmers is a new provision of the law that if land is sold with an un-harvested crop the crop is to be considered as property used in the business of the farmer. Previously growing crops were treated as income subject to income taxes.

Pinch in Offing Civilians Know

Things To Be Worse Before Better, Hint

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(P)—Americans have been given the lowdown on what the government means when it says they are going to be pinched.

And the pinch for civilians after the military gets the metal it needs is going to be a lot sharper than many expect. It's going to be rough on a lot of production chiefs who will be trying to keep factories running and men employed.

But maybe it'll be a boon to a lot of sales executive who are trying to move inventories of goods already on hand.

Makers—and buyers—of autos and household gadgets have been told how much can be produced in April, May and June. And the word is "less than now."

But for the makers of such accessories to living as umbrellas, pianos and venetian blinds the word is "you can have more metal than now, so you won't go out of business."

THE GOVERNMENT is giving up trying, apparently to decide which is more essential, a dishwasher or a cigarette lighter. Formerly it called the lighter less essential than kitchen appliances, and allowed less metal to lighter makers.

Builder—and would-be owners—of new homes get a shock. Fewer can be started after April than was first expected. The trouble here isn't in lumber, cement, plumbing fixtures, or workmen. There's no scarcity yet in any of these. But the brass, copper and aluminum items—small but essential parts of any new home—aren't going to be handed out freely.

Unless you're contractor is a good hunter, he may have trouble finishing some homes later on this year.

Businessmen get this advice from the government if you haven't started that new plant or expansion program by April 1, you're going to have a tough time proving it's essential enough for the government to let you have building materials. Business ex-

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Rites Held for Korean Casualty

Pfc. Raymond Bennett Is Laid To Rest Here

Funeral services and military graveside rites were held for Pfc. Raymond Bennett, U. S. Marine Corps, who was killed in action in Korea, at 2 P. M. Friday at the Gerstner Funeral Home.

Rev. Harold J. Braden, wearing his army uniform as a reserve army chaplain, read the Scripture, offered prayer and read the poems, "Well Done" and "I Bow to Thee, My Country."

An appropriate tribute was paid to Pfc. Bennett for his heroic service in attempting to save the lives of wounded U. S. Marines in Korea, and Rev. Braden used portions of letters from Gen. Matthew Ridgway and Chaplain Ruleman of the First Marines and Chaplain Melby of the Second Battalion of which Pfc. Bennett was a member. He also read a letter from Pfc. David G. Lees, who was a close friend of Pfc. Bennett's.

REV. PAUL ELLIOTT, new pastor of McNair Church, which Pfc. Bennett attended, read the Scripture and offered prayer.

The Washington C. H. High School quartet, comprised of Jimmie Michael, Dean Wickensimer, Bud Dawson and Bob Cameron, sang the "Marine Hymn."

The funeral was well attended. Pallbearers were: David, James and Carl Smith, Charles Holbrook, Mendel Kimble, Bud Endive, Donald Howard and Edward Forsythe.

BURIAL WAS MADE in the family lot of the Washington Cemetery, where impressive and colorful military services were conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here.

Darrell Woods was in charge of the firing squad. Members of the squad were: Delmer Gilbert, Homer Miller, Herbert Lee Kinnison, Ralph Kinnison, Wallace Noon and Cecil Happeney.

Color bearers were: Robert Penrod, and Clifton Stritenberger. Color guards were Robert Jenkins and Robert Seymour; Leo Cox was the chaplain; Ancel Knisley, the bugler.

The escort was Sgt. Ted Popelski from Brooklyn, N. Y., James McCoy, commander of the VFW post here, and Sgt. Popelski folded the flag and presented it to Pfc. Bennett's mother, Mrs. Andrew Bennett.

Sgt. Charles Robinson of the U. S. Marine Corps assisted at the graveside.

Panther Is Hunted In Louisiana Hills

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Heavily-armed hunters cautiously beat their way through thickly wooded Louisiana hills Saturday in search of a panther that has terrorized this area for two weeks.

Doubts that a panther is really on the loose were dashed aside Friday when a hound dog was ripped and chewed by the beast less than four miles from the heart of this city of 120,000.

The hound's claw-marked body was displayed in front of a Shreveport department store as convincing proof that a wild animal is in the area.

Many had previously said that persons who reported seeing the animal were trying to create "panic and terror" among residents. The hound was being used in the search.

State Post Is Sought By John J. Gallagher

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—(AP)—John J. Gallagher, 46, of Cleveland, former two-term state representative, has announced for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer in the May primary. Gallagher operates a restaurant and is a manufacturer's representative for a Cleveland company.

Gallagher was runnerup for the treasurer nomination in a nine-man race two years ago.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Glenn Hamilton was released from Memorial Hospital and taken to her home on the Miami Trace Road, Saturday morning in the Parrett ambulance.

After being a patient in Memorial Hospital for the past week recovering from surgery, Miss Suzanne Willis was released Saturday morning, to her home, 231 North North Street.

Robert Shonkwiler, 713 East Temple Street was taken in the Gerstner ambulance to Grant Hospital, Columbus, Friday afternoon where he was fitted with a brace for a back injury suffered a few weeks ago, and later returned to his home.

U. S.-British Confab Watched by Russia

MOSCOW, Jan. 12.—(AP)—It is apparent here that Russia is watching results of British Prime Minister Churchill's Washington talks with interest and it has long been clear the Soviet Union would not rebuff him if he wanted to come on a tension-easing mission to Moscow.

Since Churchill took office as Prime Minister nearly three months ago, the Soviet press has refrained from objectionable criticism of him.

The Russians seem much convinced that there are fundamental "antagonisms" between Britain and the United States and they will be surprised if any real bettering of relations between the two countries results from Churchill's trip.

Lately the Soviet press has been reporting that Britons are learning they are gaining little if anything from close association with the United States.

These reports say British workers and a large section of the intelligentsia admire the Soviet Union and would like to be more friendly with her.

Communist Nations Boycotted by Spain

New Minister Holds Services

Two Churches Served By Dr. Paul Elliott

Services at McNair Memorial Presbyterian Church and the Bloomington Presbyterian Church today were beginning to settle down with a regular minister and a regular schedule.

Dr. Paul H. Elliott, the new minister, is now here to give the churches a pastor of their own for the first time in more than six months.

Dr. Paul H. Elliott

Dr. Elliott delivered his first sermon last Sunday. At McNair Church it was in the morning. This coming Sunday, services will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the evening-not in the morning as last Sunday. A similar schedule will be followed at Bloomington.

For the present, Dr. Elliott said he planned to alternate between the church here and the one in Bloomington. But, he added, the final schedule will not be determined until the two congregations work out what they want and what will best meet the needs of the communities.

REV. HAROLD J. BRADEN, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, has been acting as the moderator (making arrangements for the services etc.) for the two churches since they have been without a pastor of their own. Most of the time a pastor was supplied for the services from week to week.

Dr. Elliott came here from Cedarville to take up his new pastorate Jan. 1. Formal installation services will be held later, but the date has not been definitely set yet.

Dr. and Mrs. Elliott have three sons and a daughter, but they are all married and in homes of their own.

Dr. Elliott received his bachelor of arts degree from Oberlin College in 1912 and his bachelor of divinity from the same school three years later. He received his master of sacred theology degree from Western Seminary in Pittsburgh in 1936, and in 1948 the honorary degree.

He had just finished serving the first year of a two-year term as president of the Greene County Ministerial Society when he accepted the call to the McNair Church here and the Presbyterian Church in Bloomington.

Exhibits of unusual articles included several toothpick holders, an old flint glass master salt shaker, book of colored western scenes, old milk glass tray, apple peeler and Staffordshire golden calf.

It was voted to establish a flower fund, and the first contributions for this purpose were received.

Any law officer making an arrest, he said, needs only to have the suspect breathe into a tube leading to the Alcometer. The instrument "cans" the breath in a small vial, making it available for an indefinite period for re-check and re-examination. The contents of the vial, Cline says, remain unchanged for long periods of time.

Poet's Corner

THE OLD BOOT-JACK
Here's one, old timers, from the book... Just turn the pages back, Until you come to where it tells About the old boot-jack; I'll venture that not many Can recall that primal day When it was an expedient part Of every farm display.

Back in the days when men were men And not the hot-house brand, The men and boys wore leather boots To till the farming land; And when they came from work at night And wanted to relax, They'd look around until they found The old boot-jack.

They'd place the boot heel In the jaws of this unique device, And give a yank. The stubborn boot Would come off in a trice; The antique shops have many things Displayed upon the rack, But I have yet to run across An old boot-jack.

The farm-folks hung them on a nail Or in some handy nook Where everyone about the house Would know just where to look; O, we have progressed far since then, Nor would I venture back To those far days, except to praise The old boot-jack.
